"A Smartie for a Smartie." It's the ultimate Grandma candy, easy to carry in purse and a favorite for kids. Smarties Candies were first manufactured in 1949 when Edward Dee and his family immigrated from England to New Jersey. He brought 2 tablet-pressing machines and began manufacturing Smarties Candies. I'm intrigued by brand names that signal a certain message without getting themselves into trouble. In this case, parents are to blame. As they give a child a horrible-tasting medicine or pill, they say, "This will make you feel better." It's not much of a stretch for a child to think a Smartie makes you smarter. With over 15 billion Smarties consumed annually, the world's a brighter place.
