

PRICES GOOD JUNE 10-15, 2019

And then, all of a sudden there weren't any. For decades, Nickles Bakery produced those individual shortcake shells. Then one day they announced, "We're not producing them anymore." Their fruitcakes likewise disappeared a couple years ago, and no one missed a beat (folks must've still had the cake from the year before). But these dessert shells would be missed. Our bakery, always looking for opportunity, found pans in our Butterchurn Kitchenwares to mold the shells and then ployed their recipe skills—and they baked an even more delicious shell. I'm biased, but I do know you can't compare them side by side. Big Smile peaches come in full swing this week, and our bakery has saved the season!
