FLAVOR OF THE MONTH JULY

Blueberry

One year of our lives—wasted! U.S. News and World Report estimates that in an average lifetime we'll lose a year's worth of time looking for items we've misplaced. But even though we're well trained by many childhood hours of hide and seek, we never enjoy the frustration of seeking. Lena Paahlsso, a Swedish woman, lost her engagement ring while baking. Her search was fruitless until 16 years later when she pulled a carrot from her garden and found it had grown through her ring! She surmises the ring fell into the sink with potato peelings thrown out as compost. We don't know the size of her ring, but we know she found a one-carrot diamond!
