Hang up the grilling tools, clean the grill and store for the winter. Whoa, not so fast! Labor Day's past, but that's no reason to think that grilling season is over. Some of my best grilling memories have snowdrifts in them. We are, however, fast running out of time for one of the most easy and delicious grill foods of the year—fresh peaches. Easy: cut the peach in half, remove the pit, and grill on each side until grill marks appear. 3 easy steps! Well, except for the most important step—serve with Mudd Valley Vanilla ice cream. Grilling caramelizes the peach, giving it a mellow sweetness. Caramel, peach, and vanilla—may the season never end!
