It's sometimes called a superfood. That's our warning we're being tricked into eating something weird or boring. Cauliflower. Yes, it's a superfood. Yes, it is boring. First, it's white. White! It does come in colors; after all, it has "flower" in its name and it is part of the flower family. We've had cheddar and purple, but while those makes great displays, our customers treated them with suspicion, like a botanical distortion. Then, consider the taste. On a scale from none to odd, it's closer to none. Cauliflower's claim to fame is that it'll taste like whatever seasoning you use. So add lots of butter, season it with a new spice blend, and you're the one playing tricks!
